Other Experience

07/2001 – 07/2005 The Blackwell Grange Hotel, Darlington

Bar Supervisor

- I initially worked as a silver service waiter in the conference and banqueting team during my vacations and subsequently transferred to the wine and bar section
- I was eventually responsible for the general running of three bars. This involved stock control, producing staff rotas, general maintenance and balancing the tills
- This job helped me to develop time management and people skills and tested my ability to handle responsibility and work under pressure

IT Skills

I have extensive knowledge of all Microsoft Office programs and have built on my experience in Excel, PowerPoint and Word by undertaking the European Computer Driving Licence at Newcastle university.

My studies entail the use of advanced Internet search engines and I aided the construction of a Newcastle University Chemistry webpage.

Good working knowledge of ArcView GIS 3.2, GPS and data logging.

Basic use of: ArcGIS Desktop and Spatial Analyst (Geographic Information System Software), ENVI (Data Visualisation and Image Analysis Software) and IDL (Interactive Data Language).
